This is to certificate that Sergei Starodumov is doing his internship in data analytics at FedEx Express in the Customer Engineering Group – Service Standard & Solutions Europe from April 1st to August 31st, 2022.

He has worked on different projects as improving automation, creating dashboards in Power BI, analyzing customer's trends, and assisting data science department on one AI project. The aim of his internship was to support our team to become more data-driven, reduce repetitive works and getting a generic understanding of working in a corporate company.

Sergei's knowledge of Python has been a huge advantage to our team. I must especially highlight his qualities of speed and accuracy; with proper guidance he has been a valuable member of our team.

We wish him all the best for his upcoming career

Sincerely,

Emilia Greco
